

BROOKLYN COPS CHANGE BRIDE'S TEARS TO SMILES

Take Up a Collection and Send Her Back Home With Youthful Husband.

They took up a collection for a forlorn little country bride at Brooklyn Police Headquarters, and realized such a comfortable sum that the young woman was smiling all over her face when she left the Smith street building.

On Oct. 20 Frank Geyer, aged eighteen, and Pearl Hayes, aged fifteen, who had been sweethearts ever since they were children, decided to elope from the village of Jeannette, Pa., and come to New York to be married and see the sights. The boy had the gratifying capital of $50, which he had saved up a dime at a time. It cost them $20 to get here, $6 for the fee of the minister who consented to marry them and $5 more for the furnished room that they rented on a back street in Brooklyn. It didn't take very long to spend the last $5, and it was a very hungry, unhappy couple that walked in on Borough Inspector Flood, the other day, and asked for help.

Young Geyer said he had a sister, Mrs. Mary Stutter, somewhere in Brooklyn, and the inspector sent Lieut. George Waldron out to find her. Waldron located Mrs. Shifter at No. 271 Hicks street, but she was not wealthy, and all she could spare for the runaway was a small sum. Inspector Flood took it upon himself to wire Geyer's mother in Pennsylvania of the state of affairs, and to-day there came a most official order for $11—enough to pay Geyer's fare back home, but not enough to take the girl-wife along.

Geyer said he had enough of trying to get a job in New York, and he wanted to start right away for Jeannette. His bride was getting ready to weep at the prospect of being left here alone, but she saw things in a different light when one of the detectives passed his hat and came back to her with $10. Mr. and Mrs. Frank Geyer have returned to their former home in the sister State of Pennsylvania. They do not care for Greater New York.

SUES FOR DAMAGED BEAUTY.

That her beauty was damaged to the extent of $20,000 by the use of the X-ray is the claim of Mrs. Blanche Levy, of Harlem, who has brought suit for that amount. The defendant is Dr. Andrew R. Robinson, of No. 189 West Forty-ninth street. The case will come up before Justice Seabury in the Supreme Court to-morrow.

Unfortunately There Is No Law Against "Over the Counter" Eyeglass Selling.

A plumber can sell eyeglasses if he wants to. So can a jewelry clerk or a dry-goods salesman. It is strictly up to you to protect yourself. Don't buy glasses till you know you need them, and then only the kind prescribed by a capable OCUList and made by a skilled optician. Not only safest, but the least expensive way.

We provide BOTH OCUList AND OPTICIAN, and charge you for glasses only. $1.00 upward.

300 Regular $32.50 Misses' Suits Acquired
Especially for This Sale, $18.75

WE want to emphasize our statement that these suits are $32.50 suits. That's what we'd have to sell them for, if purchased under ordinary conditions, and that is what they are worth, measuring the value by early season prices.

Financial conditions prompted the maker of these suits to make us a proposition that would let us sell the suits at retail for less than we'd paid for them a month ago. It did not take us long to arrange the purchase of 300 suits.

This extraordinary suit bargain is merely an expression of the values throughout the entire department. Never were high class garments so exceedingly low priced. We want you to remember, though, that no matter what you pay for a garment here—how little the price—you'll find the Simpson-Crawford standard of style, workmanship and excellence maintained.

The lot comprises handsome broadcloths in all the pretty Winter shades. Coats are made in the jaunty medium length model, double breasted, lined with guaranteed satin and warmly interlined.

Skirts are full pleated and trimmed with wide fold at foot. A strictly tailored garment. Not one in the lot sold in early season for less than $32.50. Special Saturday at $18.75.
